

EMMY LOU KELLY, CREATIVE DIRECTOR

Creative Director Emmy Lou Kelly runs Lippe Taylor's in-house Art Department, a talented team of designers who conceive and create distinct and memorable packaging, invitations, web pages and anything and everything that involves strategic client communications through unique graphic design. Emmy Lou's superb visual taste, coupled with Maureen Lippe's vision, has built Lippe Taylor's reputation for "signature" design exemplified by modern elegance.

Emmy Lou developed her keen eye for design in her earlier career as Fashion Editor at Harper's Bazaar reporting to industry legends Carrie Donovan and as Accessories Editor at Vogue Magazine, editing "Vogue's Own Boutique" pages. She then segued into a second career as a stockbroker at various Wall Street firms.

Emmy Lou lives in New York City and Southhampton and enjoys cooking, reading and going to the beach.

